

■ LECTURE NOTES

Generated: January 25, 2026 | 03:27 PM

■ EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- MAIN KEY POINT:
    - building effective agent against systems is one of the most valuable skills in ai today in this course i share best practices for doing so... • Course teaches practical AI agent building skills.
    - Most valuable skill for complex applications.
-

■■ COMPLETE TRANSCRIPTION

building effective agent against systems is one of the most valuable skills in ai today in this course i share best practices for doing so and you come away with a systematic understanding of how to build agency systems he wrote to take a complex application and decompose it into a sequence of tasks that you can then influence as in each antic rapper i found that the single biggest predictor for whether the team excuse well lies his ability to drive a disciplines error analysis process dallas to put in place evaluations or he vows so that given a complex agency work though you could efficiently hone in on what components to focus potential groovy i hope you sign up for this course and when you've completed it you know how to build agency ai systems which is one of the most in-demand skills on john walker today and they'll also let you build a lot of cool applications